

THE TOP 5 ART EXHIBITIONS TO SEE IN LONDON IN LATE AUGUST

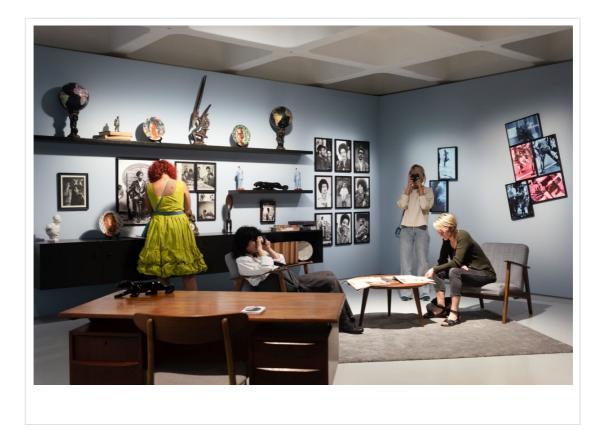

By Tabish Khan • 20 August 2023 Share – 🗾 📕 Tabish Khan the @LondonArtCritic picks his top 5 Art Exhibitions to see in London in late August. Each one comes with a concise review to help you decide whether it's for you. Those looking for more art should see last week's top 5 of museum exhibitions – where four out of five remain open to visit.

Sarah Sze, The Waiting room @ Peckham Rye station

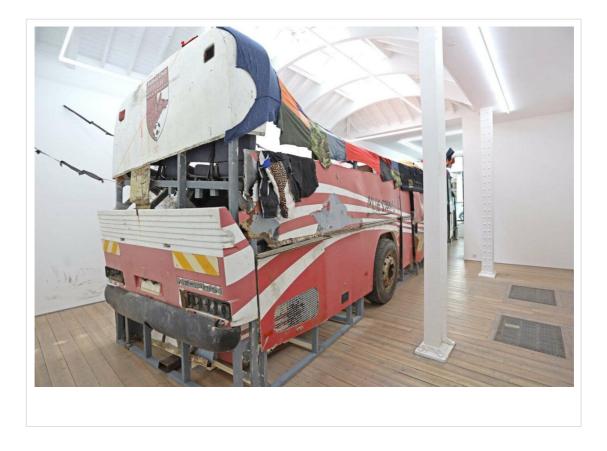

This is a simply stunning installation of screens like we're inside the Earth and watching it unfold around us from visions of sunsets to the sound of trains. All within the setting of an old station waiting room at Peckham Rye. Artangel excel at placing great artworks in fantastic spaces, and this is another must visit.

Until 17 September.

Carrie Mae Weens: Reflections for now @ Barbican Art Gallery

Black Lives Matter signs, once vivid beacons of protest, are concealed beneath layers of paint in these photographs. It allows boarded storefronts to become abstract art and is one series of powerful works by Carrie Mae Weens in this major show at Barbican. Her work is so powerful that even someone who isn't familiar with her work will be moved by the political impact of her works that look at racial inequality. Until 3 September.

Marcin Dudek: Neoplan @ Edel Assanti

Behold the audacious spectacle: an entire bus, painstakingly disassembled and resurrected within these walls, beckons us into its transformative embrace. Step inside, and you find yourself navigating the veins of memory, traversing the very vessel that once transported the fervent faithful of Bucharest's FC Dinamo. It's an ambitious and effective way to convey the many sides of football culture within a gallery setting. Until 1 September.

Dear Earth @ Hayward Gallery

Hayward Gallery orchestrates a poignant echo of the climate crisis through the works of 15 international artists in Dear Earth. The exhibition resonates as a love letter to our planet, and includes a pyramid of plants, a contemplative space with running water, an assortment of bird's eyes and portraits made from grass. Until 3 September.

Lucy Orta – Traces: Stories of Migration @ Bow Arts, The Nunnery Nestled within East London's vibrant mosaic, Lucy Orta has created an exhibition that reflects the community around the gallery. She creates tapestry portraits of East London women, including those involved in the textiles industry, and they are hung so that we can stand among them and their lived experiences. Until 27 August.

All images copyright gallery and artist. Carrie Mae Weems photo: Jemima Yong. Hayward photo: Mark Blower. Lucy Orta photo: Lorenza Demata. Sarah Sze photo: Thierry Bal. Art Exhibitions to see in London in late August

	Categories
	ART NEWS LONDON ART REVIEWS EXHIBITIONS THE TOP 5 ART EXHIBITIONS
	Tags
ARTANGEL	BARBICAN ART GALERY BOW ARTS CARRIE MAE WEEMS EDEL ASSANTI HAYWARD GALLERY
	LUCY ORTA MARCIN DUDEK SARAH SZE

Author

Tabish Khan

Art Critic for both FAD and Londonist. See as many exhibitions as possible and write reviews, opinion pieces and a weekly top 5 for FAD.

Related Posts

The Sainsbury Centre embarks on new approach to exhibition programming – empowering art to address fundamental societal challenges.

Following on from becoming the first museum to appoint a curator of art and climate change the Sainsbury Centre is embarking on a new approach to exhibition programming, empowering art to address fundamental societal challenges.

BLACK VENUS opens at Somerset House

BLACK VENUS at Somerset House- opens toady 20th July at Somerset House, an exhibition which examines the historical representation and shifting legacy of Black women in visual culture.

The Hayward Gallery opens Dear Earth: Art and Hope in a Time of Crisis exhibition exploring how international contemporary artists are helping to reframe our responses to the climate crisis.

Edel Assanti now represent Jenkin van Zyl gallery, Surrender, earlier this year, and ahead of the artist's first solo institutional show at FACT Liverpool in October.

Trending Articles

The Top 5 Art Exhibitions to see in London this August

White eyes, gloopy bats, colourful portraits, androgyny and chewable sculpture.

The Top 5 Art Exhibitions to see in London in late August

Stunning screens, political activism, an entire bus, giant birds' eyes and woven portraits.

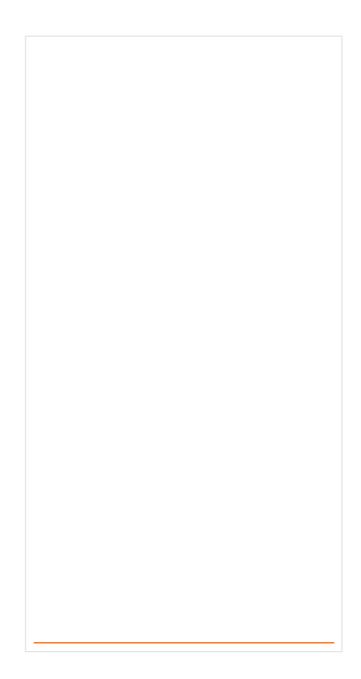

The National Gallery continues its 'Pay What You Wish' scheme for its major autumn exhibition Frans Hals.

The National Gallery has announced that its first-ever Pay What You Wish scheme, launched as a response to the cost-of-living crisis, will...

Meet the five artist representing American contemporary art in Copenhagen this summer

"Floating Bodies," a group exhibition around the body and painting at Copenhagen's Galerie Mikael Andersen, closes this week.

Join the FAD newsletter and get the latest news and articles straight to your inbox

* indicates required

Email Address*

First Name

Last Name

Subscribe

Partners

The Armory Show Art Brussels Brussels Gallery Weekend Frieze Liste Various Others Volta Art of Conversation

Credits

About FAD Magazine and Privacy Policy Advertise on FAD magazine